

Release no. 08/2010

Columbus IT wins strategic important contract with the leading department store in the Baltic States

The contract with the Estonian department store is the first result of the strategic commitment on the retail market, which Columbus IT initiated in the autumn of 2009, where the world's largest software company, Microsoft, bought the rights to Columbus IT's business solution for the retail industry.

This announcement does not change Columbus IT's financial expectations to 2010.
